INFORMATION HANDOUT

Paper 2 of Phase II of Information Technology Stream

This handout contains details pertaining to various aspects about the online programming test i.e Paper 2 of Phase II of Information Technology Stream that you are going to undertake and important instructions about the related matters. You are advised to read the handout carefully as it will help you in preparing for the examination.

The candidates should reach the venue at least 60 minutes prior to the start of the exam.

- 1. Total duration of the programming test shall be Three (3) Hours.
2. The programming test will comprise of five (5) questions of different complexity as mentioned below:

Complexity Type	No. of Questions	Maximum Marks per Question
Simple	3	10
Medium	1	30
High	1	40

3. Only one attempt will be provided to solve all the five problems. However, the program for any of the questions can be submitted to the system ("Submit to Grader") any number of times during one attempt.
4. Questions can be solved in any order.
- 5. After entering the exam in the Parikshak environment, do not close your test by clicking the "Close Test" button in the bottom unless you are sure to exit the exam. If you exit by closing your test you will not be allowed to enter again.

6. Programming languages that can be used to solve questions are as follows :

Language	Version
Java	1.8
C++ (GCC)	4.4.3
Python	3.4.3

7. There is no restriction of using the default libraries provided by programming languages, except for the few functions which are malicious in nature, the system will prompt you when you try to use those functions.
8. After writing a program for any question and submitting to the grader, the system will compile and if compilation is successful then test the program against system inputs (test cases). There may be multiple system test cases(5 or more) for each question. If the program's output for any test case is as expected then the system will show output as "Y" else "X". In some cases output could be RE/timeout if the program enters into infinite loop/taking more time than expected/and or has thrown a runtime exception.
9. For any question, if you get three or more "Y" for the test cases, your submitted code shall be considered for evaluation and based upon the number of "Y" you will be assigned marks proportionally (For example, if you get three "Y" for 6 test cases, you will get $\frac{1}{2}$ of the maximum marks assigned for that question. If you get two "Y" then you will get 0 marks. If you get 4 "Y" for 6 test cases then you will get $\frac{2}{3}$ of the maximum marks assigned for that question. If you get 6 "Y" for 6 test cases then you will get maximum marks assigned for that question.).
10. For any question, if you have multiple submissions to the grader then the attempt having maximum number of "Y" would be considered for evaluation.
11. Once you are satisfied with your submitted programs and you want to exit the exam then you can do so by clicking the "Close Test" button. However, you will not be allowed to leave the examination hall before the completion of the exam duration.
12. After the expiry of 3 hours, the program(s) would be saved automatically by the computer system even if the candidate has not clicked the "Close Test" button.
13. Candidates are advised to refer to the attached Parikshak manual for more details about the programming environment.

Disclaimer: Parikshak program grading is purely input/output based. SEBI/test conducting body reserves the right to manually examine the submitted code against malpractices and reported errors related to problem specifications. When there is adequate ground, SEBI/test conducting body may override Parikshak's verdict by granting/denying credit.
